ABSTRACT

Conducting research in the field of Native American studies requires the use of many different materials in the library. This guide provides a bibliography of useful tools as well as a basic strategy to follow when researching the topic. The types of documents listed include: dictionaries and encyclopedias, guides and handbooks, journal articles, databases, statistics, and government documents. (KM)

Southwestern Native American Studies:

A SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY

Karen Stabler, Compiler

Spring 1992

Conducting research in the field of Native American studies requires the use of many different materials in the library. This guide provides a bibliography of useful tools as well as a basic strategy to follow when researching a topic.

BEGINNING YOUR RESEARCH

Dictionaries and encyclopedias are excellent starting points for research. They can provide general background information to help narrow or broaden the focus of a topic, define unfamiliar terms, and offer bibliographies of other sources. Some works include an index, which will provide the best access to a subject.

DICTIONARIES AND ENCYCLOPEDIAS

➢ (Ref) E78 S7 B34

Barnett, Franklin. Dictionary of Prehistoric Indian Artifacts of the American Southwest. Flagstaff: Northland, 1973.

Provides definitions of Southwestern archaeological terms. Includes photographs of artifacts.

➢ (Ref) E54.5 D53

Dictionary of Daily Life of Indians of the Americas. 2 vols. Newport Beach: American Indian Publishers, 1982.

This dictionary provides lengthy definitions of terms related to Native American culture.

➢ (Ref) E77.9 H57 1988

Historical Dictionary of North American Archaeology. New York: Greenwood, 1988.

An alphabetical listing of over 1,800 prehistoric cultures, archaeological sites, and artifacts of North America.

➢ (Ref) E76.2 R4 1990

Reference Encyclopedia of the American Indian. 5th ed. West Nyack: Todd Publications, 1990.

Section One is a directory listing tribal councils, tribes, government agencies, national associations, state and regional associations, Native American centers, museums, monuments and parks, libraries, Native American centers, Indian health services, Indian Schools, college courses, communications, audio-visual aids, and magazines. Section Two covers Canadian Indian institutions. Section Three lists approximately 4,500 books in print and Section Four includes biographies of well-known Indians.

➢ E77 S84

Stoutenburgh, John Leeds. Dictionary of the American Indian. New York: Philosophical Library, 1960.

Brief definitions of Indian words including persons, places, and things found in the United States and Canada.

GUIDES AND HANDBOOKS

➢ E77 D393 1976

American Indian 1492-1976: A Chronology and Fact Book. 2nd. ed. Dobbs Ferry: Oceana , 1977.

Significant dates, as recorded by historians, in American Indian history from 1492-1970. Also includes biographical information on selected Indians.

➢ (Ref) LC 3727 D57

A Directory of Hispanic and American Indian Higher Education Programs. Albuquerque: College of Education, University of New Mexico, 1980.

Arranged by state and then by name of university or college. Provides general information about institution and description of programs and services of relevance to Native Americans.

➢ (Ref) E184 A1 T39 1986

Guide to Multicultural Resources, 85-86 ed. Madison: NMCC, Inc., 1986.

There is a section on Native American resources providing names and addresses. Topics include: books, films, and reports; businesses; calendars; civil rights organizations; colleges; community-based organizations; directories; educational associations; Indian studies; libraries; media museums; organizations and women's organizations.

➢ Z1209 H22 1983

Haas, Marilyn L. Indians of North America: Methods and Sources for Library Research. Handen: Library Professional, 1983.

This guide for beginners provides selected sources and shows how to use them. It is divided into three sections: reference works, an annotated bibliography arranged by subject, and an unannotated list of books on individual tribes.

➢ Z1209.2 N67 H57 1983

Hirschfelder, Arlene B. Guide to Research on North American Indians. Chicago: American Library Association, 1983.

A select guide containing approximately 1,200 books, articles, government documents, and other materials in 27 fields of study. Selections are in English and entries are annotated.

➢ (Ref) E77 H25

Handbook of North American Indians. Washington , DC: Smithsonian Institution, 1978. Vol. 9-10 Southwest.

These two volumes summarize the history and culture of Indians living in the Southwest from prehistoric times to the present. Coverage includes history and social organization such as marriage customs, kinship patterns, burial customs, and other social institutions.

➢ (Ref) E77 H69 1912

Hodge, Frederick Webb. Handbook of American Indians North of Mexico. 2 vols. Washington: GPO, 1912.

Comprehensive handbook of tribes and tribal divisions north of Mexico including the Eskimos. Included under the tribal descriptions are brief accounts of the ethnic relationships, history, locations through time periods, and population statistics. A new series entitled Handbook of North American Indians is currently being published.

➢ (Ref) E93 I3828 1986

Indian Reservations: A State and Federal Handbook. Jefferson: McFarland, 1986.

Arranged by state and then alphabetically by name of reservation. Information includes land status, history, culture, government, population profile, tribal economy, climate, transportation, utilities, and recreation.

➢ (Ref) E76.2 M37

Marquis, Arnold. A Guide to America's Indians: Ceremonials, Reservations, and Museums. Norman: U of Oklahoma P, 1974.

Contains short essays about Indian life. Topics include basket makers, symbols, bead work, tribes and reservations, calender of Indian events, and campgrounds for the different regions.

➢ E77 T34 1971

Terrell, John Upton. American Indian Almanac. New York: World Publishing, 1971.

Essays about prehistoric American Indians. Different tribes are under ten geographical divisions of the U.S. There is a useful bibliography, glossary of terms, and index.

FINDING JOURNAL ARTICLES

Journals are the best source for current information on a topic. This is especially important if an area of study is new, currently being investigated, or subject to frequent change.

INDEXES AND ABSTRACTS

Indexes or abstracts in print form give subject and/or author access to journal articles. Some of the indexes are located on tables near the information desk; others can be found in the reference stacks by call number. The library cannot subscribe to all of the journals in these indexes; a list of journals to which the library does subscribe accompanies most of the indexes on the index tables. The following indexes list references to journal articles in the field of Native American studies.

➢ (Ref) GN1 A15

Abstracts in Anthropology. Vol. 5 - . Westport: Greenwood, 1970 - .

Quarterly. Author and subject indexes included in each issue. Abstracts are grouped in four sections: archaeology, cultural anthropology, linguistics and physical anthropology. For information look under specific tribal names in subject index. Library owns Voume 5 - .

➢ (Ref) E31 A43

America: History and Life. Vol. 1 - . Santa Barbara, CA: Clio, 1964 - .

Best abstracting service for Indian-related matters. Abstract covers 2,000 journals on history in some thirty-eight languages. Abstracts are in English.

➢ (Ref) Index Table 1

PAIS International In Print. New York: PAIS, 1915 - .

Monthly. Includes quarterly cumulations and annual cumulations with author index, journal articles, books, pamphlets, and government documents with emphasis on public policy on Indian Affairs.

➢ (Ref) Index Table 4

Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature. Vol. 1 - . New York:. Wilson Co., 1900 - .

Indexes current information in general magazines. A good place to investigate how the Indian subject matter has been treated over the years.

➢ (Ref) Index Table 2

Social Sciences Index. New York: Wilson, 1974 - . Continues in part Social Sciences and Humanities Index (1966-74), International Index to Periodicals (1920-65).

Quarterly. Author and subject index covering over 350 English language journals. Suggested subject headings include: Indians of North American or other tribal names such as Apaches.

CD-ROM DATABASES

CD-ROM databases offer an exciting new approach to the retrieval of citations to journal articles. CD-ROM stands for Compact Disk—Read Only Memory. Several years of an index are stored on a small disk that is read by a laser reader. Through a computer keyboard, the user can specify a combination of subject terms in order to find references to articles which contain those terms in their titles, in their abstracts, or as assigned descriptors. CD-ROM offers the potential to search for very specific topics. The following CD-ROM systems may be useful for finding information on Native American studies topics.

INFOTRAC ACADEMIC INDEX

Provides easy-to-use access to current articles in periodicals of a popular nature (Time, Newsweek, etc.). Also gives access to stories in the news through references to the New York Times.

ERIC

This is the electronic version of the CIJE and RIE indexes, giving bibliographic citations and abstracts for the ERIC document collection on microfiche and for journal articles in the fields of education and other social sciences from over 775 periodicals. Provides coverage from 1966 to the present, with quarterly updates.

The Thesaurus of ERIC Descriptors may be helpful in suggesting terms to use in searching ERIC. It lists standardized subject headings, with related terms, and gives brief definitions for many terms.

SELECTED LIST OF CURRENT JOURNALS

The following list is a sample of the journals in the field of Native American studies.

American Heritage
American Indian Culture and Research Journal
Indian Affairs
Journal of American Indian Education
Journal of Arizona History
New Mexico Historical Review
New Mexico Magazine

Doc S12.3: no. 1-1199; 1887-1967
Bureau of American Ethnology. Bulletin

BOOKS

The NMSU Library uses the Library of Congress subject headings to catalog books by subjects. To determine the appropriate heading(s) for a topic, consult the three-volume Library of Congress Subject Headings (LCSH). These large red books, located at the reference desk and also near the OLE terminals, are very useful for suggesting alternate or additional headings to search. These headings are listed as BT (broader term), RT (related term), SA (see also), and NT (narrower term). UF means "used for" and indicates terms that are not used.

SELECTED LIST OF SUBJECT HEADINGS

American Literature-Indian Authors
Indians of North America
Indians of North America-Juvenile literature
Indians of North America-New Mexico
Indians, Treatment of-United States
Apache Indians
Hopi Indians
Navajo Indians
Pueblo Indians
Zuni Indians

OTHER REFERENCE SOURCES

In addition to the tools mentioned above, there are many other helpful reference sources. The following resources may be particularly helpful for the study of Native Americans.

ERIC DOCUMENTS

The ERIC (Educational Resources Information Center) Clearing-houses collect and distribute previously published and unpublished non-journal literature of interest to educators and social scientists. ERIC documents include research reports and studies, curriculum guides, bibliographies, directories, speeches, and conference proceedings. The Rural Education and Small Schools Clearinghouse collects materials on American Indians.

The NMSU Library has the entire ERIC collection on microfiche (flat sheets of film containing reduced images). The collection is arranged by ED document numbers.

INDEXES TO ERIC DOCUMENTS

Cumulated subject, author and title indexes on microfiche cover the ERIC collection for the years 1966-1988. In using the microfiche subject index or RIE, it is helpful to consult the Thesaurus of ERIC Descriptors for the appropriate subject indexing terminology. The microfiche index is located near the ERIC collection.

ERIC on CD-ROM (see p. 6)

➢ (Ref) Index Table, Microform Area

Resources in Education (RIE). Washington, DC: Department of Health, Education and Welfare, National Institute on Education, 1975- (Continues Research in Education, 1966-1974).

Monthly. Gives document resumes with abstracts for all ERIC documents. The resumes are arranged by ED number. Indexes provide access by subject, author, institution, and publication type. Cumulated semiannual index.

ATLASES

➢ (Ref) G1497 N3 G6 1982

The Navajo Atlas: Environments, Resources, People, and History of the Dine Bikeyah. Norman: University of Oklahoma, 1982.

Coverage includes the areas of demography, history, social and economic conditions, administrative and political units, and physical geography.

➢ (Ref) G1201 E1 A4 1988

We the People: An Atlas of America's Ethnic Diversity. New York: Macmillan, 1988.

This atlas has maps, text, and statistics on 67 ethnic groups living in the United States. Most of the information is from the 1980 Census. There is an excellent chapter on Native Americans entitled "People of Early North America Origin," (Indian and Eskimo).

➢ (Ref) G1496 E1 F4 1985

A Zuni Atlas. Norman: U of Oklahoma P, 1985.

This atlas contains images, text, and 45 maps of Zuni archaeology, history, ethnography, and current conditions.

BIBLIOGRAPHIES

Specialized bibliographies can be a key to further information in the study of Native American studies. They will be listed in OLE under various topics, for example "Native Americans — bibliography". The following are examples of bibliographies:

GENERAL BIBLIOGRAPHIES

➢ (Ref) E184 A1 M529 1976

A Comprehensive Bibliography for the Study of American Minorities. 2 vols. New York University, 1976.

Native Americans are covered in Volume Two from pages 783-909. Lists reference books and other books covering all aspects of Indian life.

➢ Z1209 G7

Grove, Pearce S. Guide to Native American Library Resources at Eastern New Mexico University. Portales: Eastern New Mexico University Library, 1975.

An alphabetical list of books held at the ENMU Library on Native Americans.

➢ (Ref) E78 S7 M87 1990

Indian Pottery of the Southwest: A Selected Bibliography. Santa Fe, NM: Sundstone, 1990.

A short bibliography containing books and journal articles of Southwestern pottery.

➢ (Ref) E77 I52

Indians of the United States and Canada. 2 vols. Santa Barbara, CA: ABC, 1974-83.

These two volumes have brought together 4,900 annotated entries from America: History and Life from 1954 through 1978. Each volume is arranged in a similar fashion; i.e., regional and tribal sections are grouped under four historical periods: 1) Pre-Columbian Indian history, 2) Tribal history, 3) General Indian history from 1492 to 1900, and 4) The Indian in the 20th century.

➢ (Ref) E77 M87 1975

Murdock, George Peter. Ethnographic Bibliography of North America. 4th ed. 5 vols. New Haven Human Relations Area Files, 1975 and supplement 1990.

Most comprehensive coverage of published literature including books, articles and government documents on Native Americans. Coverage is through 1987. Emphasis is on ethnography.

➢ (Ref) E77 C34 1975

Native Americans of North America. Metuchen: Scarecrow, 1975.

A bibliography of California State University, Northridge's 34,000 books by and about Native North Americans. Helpful author/title series indexes.

➢ (Ref) E58 W82
(Ref) E58 W82 Suppl.

Wolf, Carolyn E. Indians of North and South America. Metuchen: Scarecrow, 1977. Supplement 1988.

Approximately 8,000 entries indexing books, articles, government documents, and newspaper clippings which are available in the Yager Library-Museum at Hartwick College at Oneonta, New York.

BIBLIOGRAPHIES OF LITERATURE

➢ (Ref) PM 155 R86 1990

American Indian Literatures: An Introduction, Bibliographic Review, and Selected bibliography. New York: MLA, 1990.

A good introduction, covering the time period from 1500 to the present, that discusses the genres and major authors of Native American literature. The book is divided into three sections: the introduction to the literature covers autobiography, oral literature, and written literature from 1800 to the present; the second section includes background information, general literary studies, and Native American writers; and the third section contains a classified bibliography.

➢ (Ref) E77.4 K84 1991

American Indian Reference Books for Children and Young Adults. Englewood: Libraries Unlimited, 1991.

Primarily for public and school library professionals to assist in developing nonfiction materials for young Indian and American readers. Includes bibliography of 200 entries.

➢ (Ref) PS153 I52 C55 1985

Colonnese, Tom. American Indian Novelists. New York: Garland, 1985.

STATISTICS

➢ (DocRef) Z7554 U5 A46

American Statistics Index. Washington, DC: Congressional Information Service, 1973 - .

Annual. (Monthly supplement). An index to all federal government publications which contain significant statistical data. Indexed by subject and name, title, agency report number, and categories (race and ethnic groups). Library owns 1980 - .

➢ (Ref) E99 N3 F38 1988

Navajo Nation Fax. Window Rock: Navajo Nation, 1988.

Provides statistical information on the Navajo Nation.

➢ (RefI) HA202 Un3s

U.S. Bureau of the Census. Statistical Abstract of the United States. Washington, DC: GPO, 1878 - .

A single volume giving quantitative summary statistics on the political, social, and economic organization of the United States. References are given for the sources of all tables. Statistics given cover a period of several years, usually 15 or 20. Latest issue at reference information desk and in Government Documents.

GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS

The U.S. government publishes much information that may be of use in the study of Native American studies. These materials are NOT found on the OLE terminals or in the card catalog. The way to find a particular document or information on a subject is to use the Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications, GPO on CD-ROM, or one of several indexes located in the documents area.

Government documents do not have the same type of call number as other materials in the library. They are organized by the Superintendent of Documents (SuDoc) classification system. The first letters in the call number represent the issuing agency.

➢ (DocRef) I20.5

Board of Indian Commissioners. Annual Reports of the Board of Indian Commissioners to the Secretary of the Interior, 1897-1932.

The reports contain information about Indian Affairs in all parts of the country, reports of visits by the commissioners to Indian reservations, congressional appropriations, and recommendations for improvement.

➢ (DocRef) S11.20/2

Handbooks of North American Indians. Washington, DC: Smithsonian Institution, 1978 - .

Arranged by state and then subdivided by tribe. Gives land status, history, culture, government, population profile, tribal economy, climate, transportation, community facilities, and recreation.

➢ (DocRef) I20.1:

United States. Department of the Interior. Annual Reports of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. Washington, DC: GPO, 1842-1931.

These reports show the relationship between the federal government and Indians indicating the changing government policies. Includes numerous reports from agents and subagents to the Office of Indian Affairs.

GPO ON CD-ROM

GPO is a CD-ROM database that lists publications by the U.S. Government Printing Office from 1976 to the present. The user can type in title, agency, subject, or a combination of subject terms, and retrieve a listing of titles and SuDoc numbers of documents that may be available in the NMSU documents collection. Issued bimonthly.
